Whole-House Steam & Bypass Humidification

Dry indoor air can make your home feel uncomfortable causing skin irritation, creating static shock, and damaging home furnishings and woodwork. To maintain an adequate moisture level to the air in your home, Rheem offers a Whole-House Steam and Bypass Humidification System to work with your Rheem central heating system. Your Rheem total home comfort solution will make your home more comfortable for you and your family. In addition to providing humidity control, a Rheem Whole-House Humidifier also helps you reduce your energy bill, because air with more moisture feels warmer – allowing you to set your thermostat at lower levels without a noticeable change in comfort.

Rheem Whole-House Steam & Bypass Humidification

Part of Your Rheem Total Home Comfort Solution

Steam Humidifiers work by warming water in a tank which is turned into steam and allowed to flow throughout your home. Bypass Humidifiers direct the air flow from your HVAC system through a moisture-filled pad, allowing the air stream to pick up moisture evenly and distribute it throughout your home.
